However, you might have a hard time getting her to suck your dick. The bottom line is, if she loves dogs, she's probably going to know they don't love you back, no matter what you do to them. Not to mention, men usually treat dogs and other pets like a thing. Now, women like animals a lot, but unlike men they tend to understand them as a person. If you're thinking about dating a dog lady, then there are a few things you need to know. In my observation (and this could easily be a generalization on my part), women who have become accustomed to petting and handling animals are much more likely to like it when it's a man who's done the petting. Of course, there are some men who love animals a lot, but it's not something they automatically think about when they think about women. As a rule of thumb, you don't want to treat an animal like a thing. You know, to treat a dog like a dog means only letting them visit you at home. But if you treat a dog like a person, and not just a thing, you give them the privilege of having an important space in your life, and most dog ladies will appreciate that. In reality, the dog lady is not going to love your dog. It's because she tends to like them more than you do. She'll love them, but she's not going to want to take the dog home every night just because she loves the animal. So you should give this matter some thought, if you're thinking about dating one. They're going to
