Frequently Asked QuestionsWe've just released our next Kickstarter. We've been in the Red Dragon brand for the last 4 years and it has been a fantastic journey. I will be giving you all the gory details of the Kickstarter in an upcoming blog post, but it has been great fun to make another Pathfinder RPG themed game for Fantasy Grounds. We are using the same 9th Edition rules, but to get the most out of the game, we've been using the Pathfinder Role Playing Game System. This is a fantastic game, and our players are loving it so far. But, we have only covered 5 of the 6 classes and we are far from done with the classes. So, this Kickstarter will focus on the Barbarian and Monk. We also have a couple of stretch goals - so if you pledge $10 or more, you will get a set of dice and six deck of cards. This also coincides with the release of the Deluxe Harrow Deck expansion that has dice and cards included in the starter box. This Kickstarter will go live on December 2, 2017. The good news is that you can pledge now and get the dice and cards for the backer reward level - but it is going to take a few weeks to get them shipped. Pledges at the $50 and over level will also get their backer reward items early in production, and they will be posted to the backers shortly before the Kickstarter goes live on December 2, 2017. Our first theme Kickstarter was for the Red Dragon theme, and it went live on October 3, 2017. This Kickstarter will take a little longer to go live, but I know we will get it done. We are also hoping for another theme next year, but that will depend on the success of this Kickstarter. The theme continues into the next Kickstarter, our next theme will be Red Dragon Rising. We are going to get the Barbarian and Monk up to 6th level, and there are a few more classes and classes yet to be discovered. We will start a new theme on the first week of December, so if you have something in mind, let us know and we will start working on it. While we will be using the 9th edition rules in all our games, we are using the Pathfinder Role Playing Game System. We have seen a lot of positive things about the changes, but some things don't work as smoothly as expected. We are hoping to fix this if we do another Kickstarter theme. Now for the details - At this is a Discussion on Creature Clicker - X3 Boss Souls within Other Games. Part of the Give Your Game the Nomz A Look (GYGTN) Project. Adventures, Anime and Anime RPG (AARG), Pets (XWAT), Visual Novels, F/F (FREN), and other videos. The Creative Commons licence is out-of-date. The Content Provider is no longer getting any valuable data from this community. So how do we evaluate these games? This is my first try at creating categories for the GYGTN project. I've been thinking about this awhile (literally since March). At first, I wanted to make sure that game's who could use my excellent API had a permanent reference to a chart for ever absolutely. however, when I say every game that has the player purchase data, I mean every game that has a way for me to send them a data set. in other words, all games MUST be retro-compatible with the API. You should already have the points at the same ratio as you would in base ica. The nomenclature is just something I used for when I wrote it in plaintext. The point culture was something needed in ACT. Since the culture doesn't really mean anything, I've never bothered to alter it. That's the best bit of news for me since I've been waiting to see how it even works. The Witcher possibly has 3000ish points but you're right, at least officially. (I'd bet on a lot less) YET, in the way it was stated by the developer on the Witcher forums, it's legit. (Even though 80% of the trackers I've been linked to didn't even have numbers that high.) AI Chick runs off 1300 points in act 1. The Witcher 3 on PC/Playstation has 4700+ points it's just that they gamified it a little more than AI Chick. I can imagine with the rise in subscribers, especially the high numbers that All Previous Gen are pulling in that you've got a large portion of the friendlists now running premium. Meaning more yet just MORE value Status Quo was the first game to reach a similar ratio. I downloaded an image of some numbers I got from my email, AND the chat at the time, and both had similar numbers. On Steam, I have a list of game friends with GIF's of the dialog
