Stefani Erceg made a world-class play at last year's tournament, scoring an injury-time equaliser against England in the decider to clinch an epic 3-3 draw. But a groin injury is now forcing her to miss the national side's second game of the year against Ecuador in Sydney on Saturday. Like almost every player in the Matildas camp, Erceg said it was a tragedy to see her body break down just as last year's World Cup began. The injury has taken a toll on Erceg's body, leaving her scarred by the pain in a bid to get back in the game. "You know what? You take nothing for granted in football and I've had to learn that the hard way," Erceg told Fairfax Media. "It's been a bit of a learning experience and I think I did learn a lot from it. I think the fact that I come from humble beginnings and that I'm still playing today - it's testament to how hard I work and how much I've learnt from experience. "If I wasn't playing at this level, I would have just given up, but I couldn't do that." The 33-year-old, one of the few players left from the team that won the world title in 2017, is already missing her first match of 2019. Despite the pain, Erceg, whose other main injury is a nagging back problem, said the fitness issues with her body won't stop her. "It's just something that we have to just keep on going to work every day and continue to train because you never know when you're going to get your chance again," she said. c6a93da74d
